Dear Mr. Wood

Because you came into the American Oriental Society just before Mr. Williams became its president (his uncle, Wells Williams, held the chair for years) you must have known him well. I wish his biography were a better book -- it was written solely because he wished to be remembered -- but such as it is there is among its pages a good deal of hitherto unpublished archaeological material. That happens because several chapters are given to his father's mission work in Assyria, where Talcott played as a boy. He would appreciate it if you would mention this to as many of his friends, in or out of the A.O.S., as you may meet. Thank you for aiding.

(Elizabeth Dunbar)

Sincerely yours,

Elizabeth Dunbar
